TWO LIKELY

NEGRO MEN

RUN AWAY FROM THE SUBSCRIBER,

Living in Mecklenburg county, Virginia:—

ONE of them named PETER, went off about five years ago; he is very black, tall and slim, and had many scars on his back, occasioned by whipping for running away before I had him—he could work a little at the shoe, basket, and collar-making business: has very crooked shins, and if alive is now about 35 years old. The other went off the 14th of December last, and took with him my horse, saddle, bridle and great coat—he is of a yellow complexion, middle sized, has a limp in his gait and walks with his toes turned inward—he has been my miller for several years, is very sensible and pollavering, and can read tolerably well—he was born near Williamsburg, and it is expected, he will make his way thither, or further to the northward, or, probably, over the mountains to the westward—his name is DAVY, but it is expected he will change it to BOB, or to MICAJAH FENDLY, having as some suppose, stolen said Fendly's freedom pass, which is recorded in Mecklenburg county court.

The horse he took is a likely bay, about four feet eleven inches high, about nine years old, has the mark of some galls on his shoulders, steps very stately, holds his head high, especially when out of the bridle, his mane hangs on the wrong side. The saddle is country made and much worn. An old half-curb bridle. The great coat of drab colour, good cloth, with an old fashioned cape and a rent on the right side. He had on a good black velvet woistcoat and breeches, and other clothes of good Virginia cloth.

Whoever secures the above described men and goods or either of them, so that I get them again, shall receive a liberal reward.

Henry Speed.

Mecklenburg county, Virginia, 15th January 1795.

P. S. If either of the above Negroes should be taken up and delivered to me near Danville, I will pay the reward.

James Speed.

Mercer, Kentucky, 20th May, 1795. 14t

FELLOW CITIZENS,

COMPELLED by the most weighty considerations which could influence a human creature, to lay a few observations before you, at a time when to appearance I have not an equal and fair chance, but to the dispassionate and feeling part of mankind, I need only observe, that my life and character, are the all important objects before my countrymen. I have surrendered myself prisoner to Maj. William Campbell and Mr. William M. Bledsoe, to answer every charge that may be brought against me; and in particular the charge at the court of Oyer. These gentlemen, I hope, have honor enough not to receive any reward on the delivery of my person.

At a time like this public opinion, and clamour, will have its weight with some, but of all I beg for EQUITY, and no more, and if nothing but my life will satisfy the public mind, or laws of my country, I must die; for leave, or fly my country, I never will.

I think it my duty to offer my reasons for standing out as long as I have, against the laws and dignity of this State. The length of time from my confinement to the court, and my not being bailed; and the loathsomeness of the jail, were my reasons for breaking: And withall I thought by not being precipitated into trial the truth of the charge would be more fully matured. The situation of the court since in not having any attorney to appear for the Commonwealth, or appointed at too short a period would probably be offered to put off the business, and so I should have to be confined from court to court in that filthy and loathsome place.

These are and were, in short, my reasons. And as to those worthy gentlemen of Madison and Lincoln county, who so unitormly PURSUED me; if the thanks of one in my situation could confer honors for their firmness, for the execution of the laws of this State; I would give them my most grateful acknowledgements; and if I am hurried from the land of the living, I hope it will remain a monument of their HONOR and HONESTY.

Deeply sensible of my own situation, I come forward, to confess what is truth, in my charges: and to my expiring moments deny what is false, and hope and beg of my country, a fair and impartial trial.

All to God who rules all things I submit the event of my case.

I am, fellow citizens,
With real attachment,
Your prisoner.
THOMAS KENNEDY.

June 12, 1795.

N. B. As I am to be confined in jail until the next sitting of the court of Oyer, I hope this will be taken as notice to prepare for trial by the State's attorney.

T. K.

Lexington Gaol, June 1795.

MY COUNTRYMEN:

IT is true, I have by the laws of this State been confined for my conduct, and the numberless charges exhibited against me, have all conspired to my downfall; but none I believe have weighed more than my friendly treatment to William Devil Cox, in his late situation, under the laws of this State. I therefore, here give such a relation as may be relied on as the truth in that affair. Reports have circulated, that that man, had given me a bill of sale of his negroes, to secure them from being seized in his then situation: and that I had since realized them as my own property. This, with many variations as suited the times has been told. But the following are facts relative to the case. Long before a word of his fellonious conduct was brought to light, Cox gave me his bond, for two likely negroes, for which I paid him down; he borrowed fifty pounds in cash at another time; I had taken up several of his obligations, and when he was apprehended and sent to gaol, I began to think of losing my debts on Cox, which moved me to go forward and be his bail; and while he was out on bail, I took a bill of sale and delivery of his negroes, and had it recorded in Madison court, on which I still advanced cash, added to the before mentioned, in full, amount to between four and five hundred pounds: While I was in my late situation, obliged to leave my house and all, Cox endeavored to show friendly; first to me, and then to the party in pursuit of me; and plotted to take my life, or have me apprehended, the better to cover a falsity which by this time he had contrived, after other alternatives to wrong me, asserted that the negroes were the property of his father-in-law, Colonel Charles Robertson, of the Territory, although the purchase and consideration paid by Cox to Robertson, can be proven by indubitable testimony in this State. On Sunday, the seventh of this instant, Robertson and Cox, came to my house, and did feloniously, by force and arms, seize and take away six negroes, for which I have Cox's bill of sale, and the said Cox went into Lincoln, and swore next day, that the property of said negroes was in his father-in-law, Robertson. The day after my surrender in mentioning the cruelties of my situation to several gentlemen, and hearing Robertson, was yet in the country, they took me to a magistrate, to see if nothing could be done in the case; where I accidently very unexpectedly met with Robertson, in presence of a number of gentlemen, on my telling him his son-in-law's owing me, agreed, that on Thursday, he gave his honor, to come to my house, and bring his son-in-law and daughter, and that we should have a fair settlement, and that the said Robertson, on settlement, would pay me out of those negroes himself, and that if any thing failed on Cox's part, he would be answerable for the debt himself. We struck hands, bound in honor to comply, and myself on leave of the gentlemen with whom I was in custody, promised to attend. Accordingly on Thursday, the eleventh instant, I prepared myself for settlement, but no Cox appeared: Robertson plead for to stay until Friday the 12th instant, when Cox would come and should settle. As I was then in presence of a hundred or hundred and fifty men, amongst whom were a number of leading characters: The gentlemen who had me in custody called on them in form, for their advice, whether to go to gaol immediately, or whether a few days would injure the State, until their domestic concerns would permit, and my case would be more to light. The assurances received from the by-standers, and particularly from Col. Whitley, that he would in honor not concern with me, that he would do all in his power for me to have a fair and impartial trial, that he would ride a hundred miles to oblige me at any time, and when sent for would go with me to Lexington any time appointed by the gentlemen in whose custody I was. From these considerations, I was, I believe suffered to attend on Friday as aforesaid. Accordingly on the day, Cox and Robertson met, and we settled, and Cox fell in my debt 382l. 6s. 8d. after all credits he asked for: Some hesitation arose, it seemed then in Robertson's mind about the price of the negroes, however from his own prices it appeared as if it would take the whole except one, and 27 pounds in the prise of that: He seemed astonished at Cox's due to me, and begged to put off having the negroes valued, until monday, when he would bring back those he had taken away from me, & have them duly valued, to me to the amount of the debt—on which we parted; and on Monday I was suffered to return, and was then and have been since well informed that Col. Charles Robertson, of the Territory, and William Devil Cox, his son-in-law, did aid, convey, and assist in the taking said negroes through the wilderness, and I saw him no more.

These my Countrymen are facts which I just mention to you as a specimen of my situation, and treatment: Why it is, or how it came, that my case is as it is, I know not; but to you I look up for justice in each particular of my situation. In this loathsome and filthy place, I LIE NOT ABLE TO SEE MY SELF RIGHTED, the censures of the world, are with such malice and vehemence against me, that my friends, and those who have it most in their power to judge of my hard and cruel treatment from the world, and I am yet perfuaded who think better of my principles than many at a distance do, are afraid to step forward,

I must confess my case bids fair for desperation and destruction; But all I have is in your hands or in the world, and they must do as they please. I make my appeal to you now: but I am deeply sensible that I have to answer to the great governor of Universal naturure for all my conduct.

I am my country-men,
with due regard subject.
Thomas Kennedy.

Lexington Gaol, June 24th 1795.

Fellow-Citizens;

IN my laſt weeks publication, I promiſed to confeſs in my charges what was true, and to my expiring moments, deny what is falſe. It is therefore incumbent on me, to trouble you with another publication; and I beg it may not be read as foreign news, but conſider it is the caſe of one of your country men, whoſe preſent and former ſituations in life, exhibit to the world, facts from which, every man of reflection may gather the uncertainty of the affairs of this world: and one who at this time has nothing ſcarcely to make exiſtence deſirable, whilſt proſpects the moſt gloomy, and the horrid cruelties of my ſituation are conſtantly with me.

I have one thing to aſk of my country men, which is, not to condemn me for things unproven, nor let the falſe, and malicious charges of James French, conſpire to take my life in my preſent trial. If I ought to die for the life of my fellow citizen that fell in my hands in the manner it did, I ſhall face my fate I truſt, with becoming ſubmiſſion.

I have been informed, that this James French has ſwore ſeveral felonious actions on me, the particulars of which, I cannot in this jail controvert: But ſo far think it my duty to my ſelf, to detail to you a ſhort hiſtory of James French. He is by his own information, a deſerter from Burgoyne's army, married in my neighbourhood, has been in my employ ſeveral years, and is a remarkable induſtrious hard laboring man, as much ſo as I ever had one, but ſpends his labor moſtly in drink. Since my misfortune with Gilleſpie, French has been taken up on ſuſpicion of ſtealing a plough hoe; tied and whiped, confeſſed the fact, prduced the plough hid on my plantation, and I am informed, was aſked in the courſe of his examination if he knew any thing in regard of diſhoneſty in me? and affirmed not repeatedly. In this ſtate of affairs, I diſpatched him from my buſineſs. The people juſtly exaſperated at his conduct, threatened to retake him on ſuſpicion of other felonies, on which threats he lay out ſome time in the county of Lincoln, without the means of getting away from the country or without a friend or place to cover his guilty head. At length promiſes were proclaimed (I hope with good intention) that if he would come forward and make ſuch confeſſion as would diſcover on others, favor ſhould be ſhewn him. At this favorable criſis, he comes forward, knowing my ſituation, and what would pleaſe the world—I can prove he ſaid, and that by good teſtimony, that I had given him a whipping before he left me, and "he would be damned if he did not prove my eternal ruin."

He afterwards ſwore to ſeveral falſe and malicious charges and by examining the judges of the court of quarter ſeſſions for Madiſon county, and all preſent before the court, and comparing that with other things on the ſame matter, ſworn to, before one of the judges of the court of quarter ſeſſions for Lincoln county, it will be found, that HE IS PERJURED, in the plain ſenſe and letter of the law, and in my own accuſations by this man, ſuch contradictions as will aſſure that every time the ſtory was told it was attended with ſuch circumſtances as to fit and wind with the ſituation of the teller; But in all his perjuries I have never been informed, that he accuſed me of laying a hand to any thing in perſon.

I have only one remark more at preſent, that is, from the circumſtances that man was in, I beg a ſuſpenſion of judgment in the public mind, until a fair trial on that head can be had, if I am permitted to live, to anſwer for my ſelf: and if I never am, there are exiſting facts that will come to light, I hope, one day, to the reverſe of my diſhoneſty, from any proof which can be given by that man.—Cruel, cruel as my caſe is, I yet have a hope that truth will come to light.

THOS. KENNEDY.

WHEREAS, different reports are going through the country, depreciating general Thomas Kenedy's character—as it is ſaid I have confeſſed to many felonious acts on the ſaid Kenedy; I now, ſolemnly declare the report falſe & malicious; neither can I bring forward any ſuch charge, that would not be falſe. I never knew the ſaid Kennedy to be the the leaſt concerned in felony. Given under my hand this 25th day of June '95.

Hugh Roſs.

WHEREAS, it is reported, that I have confeſſed to ſome felonious crimes on general Thomas Kennedy, before col. William Whitley; I now declare the report falſe, altho' it is true that the ſaid Whitley did uſe his exertions in order to get me to confeſs ſomething on the ſaid Kennedy: Not only that, but if I would ſo do, he would take my family to his own houſe, and he would ſet me up in my trade, and I, ſhould live like a gentleman; and alſo offered me five hundred pounds in ſecurity for ſo doing. I now leave his conduct for the world to judge: Given under my hand this 25th of June '95.

BURNING OF ASSIGNATS.

On the 19th March at ten o'clock in the morning there will be burnt in the court of the new local, appointed for the verification of aſſignats, the ſum of fifteen million of aſſignats withdrawn from circulation by exchanges. The above ſum joined to the two billions ſix hundred and ten millions 683,000 livres already burnt form a total of 2,625,683,000 livres.

OSTEND, March 11.

The commerce of this port begins to be flouriſhing. Daniſh and Swediſh ſhips bring goods and merchandizes of the firſt neceſſity, whilſt the objects of luxury arrive from France, in order to be exchanged for other productions.

BRUSSELS, March 5.

The Repreſentatives of the People have prohibited the diſtillation of gin throughout all Belgium. The great number of diſtilleries was one of the non-execution of requiſition for ſupplying the army with proviſions. In fact theſe diſtilleries which in eaſt Flanders alone, is 181 conſumed daily, as much grain as would have been ſufficient for the ſubſiſtance of 200,000 Citizens, as much fuel as would have ſerved more than 9000 families, and as much oats as would have fed 2300 horſes.

EDINBURGH, March 27.

By a gentleman recently arrived at Leith from Gibralter, accounts are received, that the emperor of Morocco had broke off the conferences for peace between the States of Barbary and America, and had actually declared war againſt the United States. Hitherto the court of Portugal has not only prevented thoſe piratical deſperadoes from paſſing and cruizing near the mouth of the Streights, but has in various inſtances befriended the Americans as well by allowing them convoys as by endeavors to conclude a treaty of peace.

Lexington June 27.

We have no account that the treaty has actually commenced, but that a great number of Indians had collected.

We have had no Mail this week.

GENTLEMEN DISTILLERS:

I HEREBY give notice, that I ſhall attend at Clarke Court houſe the 23d and 24th of this inſtant, and at the court-houſe in Lexington from the 26th to the 30th inclusive, for the purpoſe of receiving entries of Stills &c. for the counties of Clarke and Fayette. JUST ARRIVED,

AND NOW OPENING FOR SALE BY

BENJAMIN STOUT,

NEXT door to Henry Marſhall's tavern, a handſome and general aſſortment of MERCHANDISE, conſiſting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Iron Mongery, Glaſs & Queens Ware, Medicines, Boots and Shoes, Calf Skins and Boot Legs; alſo a quantity of Hops, which he will diſpoſe of on the loweſt terms for Caſh, Whiſkey, Bear Skins, and country made Sugar.

Lexington, Jan. 22, 1795.

ALL perſons who have had accounts at the ſtore lately kept by mr. Samuel Downing, next door to Henry Marſhall's tavern, are requeſted to make immediate payments to the ſubſcriber, mr. Downing, who was only employed by him to ſell the goods, having given up to him the books and accounts, legally proved.

If due attention is not paid to this notice, the ſubſcriber will be under the neceſſity to put all the accounts that will admit of it, into the hands of a magiſtrate for recovery; and take other ſteps for recovery of ſuch as are above the juriſdiction of a magiſtrate.

ANDREW HARE.

Lexington, Jan. 9, 1795.

WE have ſome time ſince given notice, that our Copartnerſhip was about to expire, and requeſted thoſe who were indebted to us to come and ſettle their accounts.—We again requeſt that thoſe who have not complied with our former requeſt to come and ſettle with Mr. John Clay, who will ſuperintend the buſineſs during our abſence, which will be until about the laſt of May next, it is hoped that thoſe who cannot make payment immediately, will give their obligations, as no further indulgence can be given.

P. CALDWELL & Co.

Lexington, March 23, 1795.

THIS IS TO GIVE

PUBLIC NOTICE,

TO all who are concerned, that all perſons are forwarned from cutting or taking any kind of wood or timber, or making any improvement on my claim of land of one thouſand acres, adjoining the eaſt ſide of Kentucky river, oppoſite to Delaney's ferry, which joins James Bullock's military claim on the ſouth.

NOTICE, is hereby given,

To all perſons whom it may concern,

THAT having legally purchaſed of Holt Richardſon, two Military entries, of one thouſand acres each—one lying in the fork of the firſt fork of Licking, the other lying in the firſt of the middle fork of Licking. That receipts are in my poſſeſſion for the purchaſe money, and Mr. Richardſon's bond, in the penalty of one thouſand pounds, conditioned for the conveyance of ſaid lands together with a lawful power of attorney to Maj. John Cook of Campbell county, veſting him with power to convey ſaid lands. And whereas by a publication in Mr. Bradford's paper of the 6th of April laſt, a certain Thomas Carneal Eſq. of Fayette county aſſumes a power of acting under an authority derived from ſaid Richardſon, and has undertaken to declare that the powers veſted in Maj. Cooke were fraudulently obtained. I therefore forewarn all perſons from purchaſing any part of ſaid land, as the power veſted in Mr. Carneal, was, it is to be feared, ſought after and accepted by him with a fraudulent intention, he having a knowledge of the purchaſe made by me prior to his leaving Kentucky laſt year.
